

---

Chrissy Anecito

Chrissy Anecito is a policy strategist focused on engaging governmental entities, private corporations and civil service organizations on sustainable and equitable solutions to challenges at the local, state, and federal level. As an Associate with Cityfi, Chrissy is focused on climate adaptation and resilience, public-private coalition building, and improving programmatic efficiencies. Prior to joining Cityfi, Chrissy launched a pilot Climate Budget program for the City of Los Angeles, and operationalized and implemented multiple projects from Mayor Garcetti's Justice Budget agenda. Chrissy has over seven years of experience in political strategy and electoral politics, working alongside the leadership of various political organizations and candidates. She holds a BA from UC Berkeley in Political Science, and a Master in Public Policy from UCLA.

- Created and managed $1.2M program distributing air purifiers to households in disadvantaged Los Angeles communities with highest pollution exposure; developed eligibility criteria for recipients; conducted market research for best unit to address specific needs of recipient households.
- Managed interdepartmental team to restructure, redesign, and launch Angeleno Corps, a work experience program for 400 underserved young Angelenos.

EDUCATION

- University of California, Berkeley, BA in Political Science; BA in Religious Studies
- University of California, Los Angeles, Master in Public Policy

Select Experience

- Created inaugural Climate Budget for Los Angeles in partnership with C40 Cities; facilitated interdepartmental and Council-wide participation in Phase I of pilot roll out; collaborated with Council Office to write and pass successful motion establishing a Los Angeles Climate Budget.
- Facilitated coordination across City Departments, Mayor's Offices, and 15 external partners to support a $59 million Transformative Climate Communities project with funding from CA Strategic Growth Council, private funders, and City support.